The STEP initiative at The School District of Philadelphia provides mental health, behavioral health and social service support to students and families in select District schools. This team of mental health professionals can provide therapy, case management, behavior planning and peer support as well as consult on school wide initiatives that can and should lead to better outcomes for students in the classroom and in the community.

In the United States since 1987 the month of March has been dedicated to Women’s History Month. The theme for Women’s History Month in 2022 is “Women Providing Healing, Promoting Hope.”. Women’s History Month is a celebration of women’s contributions to history, culture and society. The Month of March is dedicated to reflect on the often-overlooked contributions of women to United States history.

The theme of "Women Providing Healing, Promoting Hope." is both a tribute to the ceaseless work of caregivers and frontline workers during this ongoing pandemic and also a recognition of the thousands of ways that women of all cultures have provided both healing and hope throughout history."

Celebrate the many achievements of women throughout history in art, athletics, business, government, philanthropy, humanities, science, and education. Women have contributed a lot to society, and have made great strides in reducing the gender equity gap. However, we still have some barriers to overcome to ensure equal economic opportunities, educational equity, women’s health, and an end to gender-based violence.

To celebrate Women’s History Month:

- Buy from and support women-owned businesses
- Support (and play/watch!) women-led and -made films and songs
- Share what you’ve learned about women’s history online (if posting online about Women’s History Month or International Women’s Day, use #ChooseToChallenge or #IWD2021)
- Read and buy books from female writers

A STEP Into the Spotlight

Bessie Blount Griffin was a compassionate woman who aided many wounded soldiers during WWII. After seeing so many wounded and unable to fend for themselves, she invented a device that helped amputees feed themselves. Essentially, the person could bite down on a tube that would dispense a mouthful of food into the person’s mouth. The invention was denied in America, but the French government purchased her invention and used it to help wounded soldiers eat on their own.

A true innovator, Dr. Patricia Bath was the first African-American to achieve a residency in ophthalmology. In addition to that, Bath was the first African-American female to gain a medical patent for her invention of the Laserphaco Probe used for cataract treatment. Her device was a trailblazing invention that was able to restore vision to individuals who had gone more than three decades without sight.

ELLEN OCHOA

Much of Ochoa’s early research was spent studying optical systems. She filed for a few patents on the topic, including “Position, Rotation, and Intensity Invariant Recognizing Method.” Eventually, she was named Chief of the Intelligent Systems Technology Branch at the NASA Ames Research Center. However, her biggest claim to fame is as the first Hispanic woman to go to space. Her nine-day mission aboard the Space Shuttle Discovery in 1993 was just the first of her four flights and multiple stints as Mission Control. She currently serves as the Vice Chair of the National Science Board.
LOVE YOUR HEART

In the United States the leading cause of death for women is not breast cancer but heart disease. Some women are asymptomatic (no symptoms) but others may experience:
- Angina (dull and heavy or sharp chest pain or discomfort)
- Pain in the neck, jaw, or throat
- Pain in the upper abdomen or back

These symptoms may happen when you are resting or when you are doing regular daily activities.

Women also may have other symptoms, including:
- Nausea
- Vomiting
- Fatigue

Heart disease may be “silent” and not diagnosed until you have other symptoms or emergencies, including:

Heart attack: Chest pain or discomfort, upper back or neck pain, indigestion, heartburn, nausea or vomiting, extreme fatigue, upper body discomfort, dizziness, and shortness of breath

Arrhythmia: Fluttering feelings in the chest (palpitations)

Heart failure: Shortness of breath, fatigue, or swelling of the feet, ankles, legs, abdomen, or neck veins

If you have any of these symptoms, call 9-1-1 right away.

Risk factors for heart disease

- High blood pressure
- High cholesterol
- Smoking
- Diabetes
- Having overweight or obesity
- Eating an unhealthy diet
- Physical inactivity
- Drinking too much alcohol

To lower risk of heart disease with the assistance of your primary care physician gain control of your blood pressure, diabetes, and cholesterol. Change your diet, limit the amount of alcohol consumption, and quit smoking.
STEP’s Easy Cooking Corner
Baked Chicken Tacos

- Preheat oven to 400°F. Spray a 9×13 baking dish with nonstick spray.
- Heat olive oil over medium heat in a medium skillet.
- Add onion to skillet and cook for 2-3 minutes, or until the onion is translucent and fragrant.
- Stir in the chicken, taco seasoning, tomatoes (FULLY DRAINED), and green chiles (FULLY DRAINED) *see note. Stir to combine fully. Reduce to simmer and allow to cook for 5-8 minutes.
- Place the taco shells in the baking dish, standing up. I was able to fit 10 taco shells in the dish by adding 2 on each side.
- Bake the taco shells for 5 minutes by themselves to allow them to crisp up. Remove from the oven.
- Spoon 1 tablespoon of beans into the bottom of each taco shell. Top with the chicken mixture, almost to the top of each shell.
- Sprinkle each shell generously with shredded cheese, the more the better!
- Bake for 7-10 minutes or until cheese is fully melted and the edges of the shells are browned.
- Remove from the oven and top with your favorite items such as jalapenos, sour cream, cilantro, and salsa.
